MEMORANDUM FOR: [REDACTED]

MPRRD, IC Staff

SUBJECT

: DDI Resources for New Methodologies

1. As we agreed in our discussion on 23 September, I am providing in the attachment an approximation of DDI financial resources allocated to new methodology programs.

2. As you know, it would be exceedingly difficult to try to apportion, in any meaningful manner, the time spent by production analysts in the application of new methodologies as part of their research activity. I have chosen, therefore, to present the dollar figures only for those personal and contract activities that are dedicated exclusively to new methodology programs. The total figures-- [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]--obviously are bed-rock figures. These totals must be regarded as rough approximations which would change significantly if we were able to add on some apportionment for the application of new methods. The man-year equivalents that correspond with the dollar figures presented in the attachment are [REDACTED] for FY 1975 and [REDACTED] for FY 1976.
